HANNAH BINDING SHOES.

Poor lone Hannah,
Sitting at the window binding shoes.
Faded, wrinkled,
Sitting, stitching, in a mournful muse.
Bright-eyed beauty once was she,
When the bloom was on the tree.
Spring and winter
Hannah's at the window, binding shoes.

Not a neighbor
Passing, nod or answer will refuse,
To her whisper:
"Is there from the fishers any news?"
Oh, her heart's adrift with one,
On an endless voyage gone!
Night and morning
Hannah's at the window, binding shoes.

Fair young Hannah,
Ben, the sun-burnt fisher, gaily woos.
Tall and clever,
For a willing heart and hand he sues.
May-day skies are all a-glow,
And the waves are laughing so!
For her wedding
Hannah leaves her window and her shoes.

May is passing;
'Mong the apple boughs a pigeon coos,
Hannah shudders;
For the wild southwester mischief brews,
Round the rocks of Marblehead.
Outward bound, a schooner sped.
Silent, lonesome,
Hannah's at the window, binding shoes.

'Tis November,
Now no tear her wasted cheek bedews.
From Newfoundland
Not a sail returning will she lose,
Whispering, hoarsely, "Fishermen,
Have you, have you, heard of Ben?"
Old with watching,
Hannah's at the window, binding shoes.

Twenty winters
Bleach and tear the rugged shores she views.
Twenty seasons
Never one has brought her any news.
Still her dim eyes sightless
Chase the white sails o'er the sea.
Hopeless, faithful,
Hannah's at the window, binding shoes.

THE MUTILATED TOOTH PICK;

OR THE

BLOOD TUB OF TILLIETUDLUM.

BY BRAINLESS BOB, JR.,

Author of the "Mysterious Sausage," &c.

CHAPTER I.

"Now is the winter of my discontent
Made double bitter by the scarcity
Of Lager beer.——"—SHAKESPEARE.

'Lager, more lager!' hoarsely shouted the Count D'Nincompoop to his attendants, as he sat at the banquet table, in the Hall of Nincompoop Castle.

The butler hastened to obey the order, and soon returned with the intelligence that the lager was all gone!

'No lager!' exclaimed the Count in a voice of thunder.

'Nary glass!' replied the trembling menial.

'Fool, why didst thou not provide more of that Teutonic beverage? But go, d-part, evaporate! ere in my rage I strike out from the shoulder like an 'artist,' and give you 'jessie!'

The butler and the other attendants left, and the Count was alone.

With rapid strides he paced the Hall, anon he speaks, while his manly face is distorted with fearful passion.

"Isabella D'Fitzsimpkins, thou shalt be mine; aye, haughty beauty, never shall Roderiego call you wife. My plans are laid, and unlike the Wall street brokers, I know no such thing as fail.

"Roderiego, the Blood Tub is on thy track; beware, beware!"

With the smile of a demon, he drew from its sheath a glittering dagger, and sharpened it on his boot.

CHAPTER II.

"Cassio—Dost know him, Iago?"
Iago—"I do; he is a load of bricks——he is!"—Othello.

Roderiego D'Polliwog was an orphan.—This melancholy circumstance, it is generally believed, was caused by the death of his parents. He loved with all the fiery ardor of his impetuous nature, the beautiful Lady Isabella D'Fitzsimpkins. To him she owed her life: for one day she walked forth in all the pride of her maiden loveliness to purchase a pint of pea-nuts, a pair of frightened horses dashed madly down the street. All except Isabella, fled; but she seemed rooted to the spot.

Nearer they approached—a piercing shriek rends the air; they are almost upon her, when a youth rushes from a lager beer saloon, seizes the foaming steeds by the tails, and with superhuman effort threw them into the middle of next week! Having accomplished this herculean feat, he bears Isabella into a shoteecary pop, where she soon recovers, and is escorted home by the gallant Roderiego. 'Twas thus they met.

That night Lady Isabella slept not, tho'ts of Roderiego filled her mind, and conjured up visions of the future, brighter than Fernando Wood's before election day. And Roderiego, too, wood the God of Sleep in vain.

CHAPTER III.

"Her nose is like the snow drift,
And bunged up is her eye"—Byron.
"That's so!"—Rynders.

In a magnificently furnished apartment sat the Lady Isabella and Roderiego knelt at her feet.

'Rise, Roderiego,' she murmered in dulcet tones.

'I'll rise no more than fancy stocks have since the financial crisis, until you decide my fate. In your hand rests my happiness, will thou be mine? Sp-ak, Lady Isabella, speak.

She answered not, but turned aside her head and wiped her nose.

'Are those pearly drops from that bright nose—no, excuse me; from those bright eyes assurance of your favor?' he asked in a voice of mingled joy and apprehension.

She dried her tears and spoke.

'Roderiego, to you I owe the preservation of my life, I love thee, aye, as the politician loves the spoils, but—but, I can never wed with thee!'

'What fearful mystery is here compared with which the assault on William Patterson sinks into insignificance!' ejaculated Roderiego.

'Listen!' she exclaimed. 'There is an insurmountable barrier to our union, and that is——'

'What?' interrupted Roderiego.

'I am the wife of Count D'Nincompoop the Blood Tub of Tillietudlum!' she gasped, and fainting fell to the floor.

CHAPTER IV.

"If the red slayer thinks he slays,
Or if the slain thinks he is slain,
It makes slight difference either way,
I bet 'em up and go in again!"—Emerson.

The Count D'Nincompoop left his castle, his noble form closely enveloped in a cloak, which enclosed it to advantage, and pursued his way to the mansion of Lady Isabella. With cautious steps he ascends the stairs, until he reaches the room where we have introduced her in the last chapter, and opening the door, beholds Roderiego endeavoring to restore Lady Isabella to consciousness.

"Ha! ha! Roderiego, I have thee at last!" and ere the brave Roderiego could speak, he plunged the dagger in his bosom.

Roderiego D'Polliwog fell mortally wounded, the blood running in a crimson stream upon the carpet.

D'Nincompoop gazed a moment at the baby, and then endeavored to arouse the Lady Isabella.

She opened her eyes, and shuddered when she beheld the Count.

'Where is Roderiego?' she asked in agitation.

'Perfidious female woman, behold!' he exclaimed as he pointed to the corpse. 'My vengeance is complete; the Blood Tub has wiped out his wrongs with blood.'

Isabella gazed with an idiotic look upon the form of him she loved.

'Let me have a relic of the glorious dead,' Roderiego a broken tooth pick. It was wofully stained with blood from the wound.

CHAPTER V.

'Dry up and suspend.'—Anonymous.

The news of the murder of Roderiego spread with rapidity throughout the city. The Metropolitans were on the alert, and by the orders of Coroner Connery the Count was arrested, and the mutilated tooth pick was found upon his person.

Isabella was summoned as a witness, but alas! she could give no evidence, she had become an idiot. The Count endeavored to prove that the blood upon the tooth pick was not arterial, but he was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

But hark! what cry is it that breaks on the startled ear, 'Ere's the Express, third 'dition; got the recovery of Roderiego!"

The news was, Roderiego was not mortally wounded, and with the aid of the retired physician, whose sands of life had nearly run out, recovered his usual health.

But little remains for us to relate. The Count D'Nincompoop was released by the intercession of Roderiego, and left the United States to spend the balance of his miserable life in New Jersey.

In a fit of diabolical passion at hearing of the marriage of Roderiego D'Polliwog to the Lady Isabella D'Fitzsimpkins, he dashed his brains out with a bar of soap.

Roderiego and Isabella, who, after the murder had procured a divorce from the Count, lived happily together, and many little Polliwogs squirmed around their feet.

BADGERING WITNESSES.

Some lawyers have a very reprehensible practice of badgering witnesses while on the stand, in order to render their evidence useless by reason of contradictory statements which they may make while in a state of temporary embarrassment. They sometimes meet with their match, and a very notable instance is an anecdote related of Cook, the actor and musician, who on being summoned as a witness in a case which was tried in London in 1833 between some music publishers, the matter in dispute being an alleged piracy of 'The Old English Gentleman'—was crossed-examined pretty fiercely by Sir James Scarlet, (afterwards Lord Abinger,) who appeared for one of the parties. His Lordship said, 'Now Mr. Cook, you say that the two melodies are the same, but different; what do you mean by that, sir?' To this Cook replied: 'I said that the notes in the two copies were the same but with different accent, the one being in common time, the other in six-eight time; and consequently the position of the accented notes was different.' 'But Mr. Cook,' quoth Sir James, 'don't beat about the bush, but explain to the jury, who are supposed to know nothing about music, what do you mean when you speak of accent?' Cook replied: 'Accent in music is a certain stress laid upon a particular note, in the same manner, as you would lay stress upon any given word—for the purpose of being better understood. Thus, if I were to say 'you are an ass,' it rests on ass, but if I were to say 'you are an ass,' it rests on you, Sir James.' Shouts of laughter, it is said, followed this repartee, in which it was difficult for the astute judges to keep from joining. Sir James was satisfied with Cook's elucidation of the matter, and permitted him to retire without asking any more questions.

SONG.

ELLEN BAYNE.

Soft be thy slumbers, rude cares depart,
Visions in numbers cheer thy young heart.
Dream on while bright hours and fond hopes remain,
Blooming like smiling bowers for thee Ellen Bayne.

Chorus.

Gentle slumbers o'er thee glide,
Dreams of beauty, round thee bide,
While I linger by thy side,
Sweet Ellen Bayne.

Dream not in anguish—dream not in fear—
Love will not languish—fond ones are near,
Sleeping or waking, in pleasure, or pain,
Warm hearts will beat for thee, sweet Ellen Bayne.

Chorus.

Scenes that have vanished smile on thee now,
Pleasures once banished, play round thy brow,
Forms long departed, greet thee again,
Soothing thy dreaming heart, sweet Ellen Bayne.

Chorus.

"DARK DEEDS" OF INDIA.

A recent writer gives the following account of something that fell under his personal notice in India:

Our conversation was here interrupted by a gardener, who presented the Rajah and myself, respectively, with a nosegay; and who volunteered the information, that some workmen, in digging the foundation of a vine-trellis, had come upon an old house under the earth, and in it had been found several gold and silver coins.

"Where?" said the Rajah.

"There!" said the gardener, pointing in the direction.

We hurried to the spot and found that the workmen had gone; but sure enough, there were the walls of an apartment, formed of red stone and white marble.

"This quarter of Agra," said the Rajah to me, "was formerly inhabited by persons of the highest rank. Where we are now standing, was, no doubt, once the site of a place; and these walls are those of the ty-khana—a vault beneath the dwelling from which the light is excluded. In these dark places are usually perpetrated what you English call "dark deeds."

I expressed a desire to explore this newly-discovered apartment of former days; but the Rajah told me that it was then too late as the workmen had gone; but he promised me that if I would come to him at daylight on the following morning, he would have great pleasure in gratifying my curiosity.

On the following morning, having spent a very dreamy night, I was carried in my palanquin to the Jhoolpore Palace. Such was the name Lall Singh then resided. The Maharajah was dressing. I was confronted by a Seik with an enormous beard, whose hair was a yard long, and tied up in a peculiar knot on the top of his head, and who politely inquired if I would take coffee. Ere long the Rajah made his appearance and we went together to the newly discovered ty-khana, which was now guarded, since gold and silver had been found there. The workmen, some twenty in number, came and commenced their labor: that of clearing away the earth in all directions, in order to get to the bottom of the apartment in the ty-khana. This was accomplished in about two hours, and we then stood upon a stone floor in the centre of a room about sixteen feet square. In several of the niches were little lamps, such as are burnt on the tombs of Moslemen, and a hookah and a pair of marble chairs were found in this subterraneous apartment, of which the sky is now the roof. Whilst examining the walls, I observed that upon one side, there was a ledge about six feet high from the floor, (and carried up therefrom) and about a foot in width. This ledge, which was made of brick and plaster, resembled a huge mantelpiece, and was continued from one end, of the apartment to the other. I asked the Rajah the reason of such structure in the apartment. He replied that he did not know, nor could any of the workmen account for it: one of them however took a pick-axe and dug out a portion, when to my surprise and horror, I discovered that in this wall a human being had been bricked up. The skin was still upon the bones, which were covered with a costly dress of white muslin, spangled all over with gold; around the neck was a string of pearls; on the wrists and ankles were gold bangles, and on the feet were a pair of slippers, embroidered all over with silver wire or thread: such as only Mahommedan women of rank or wealth can afford to wear. The body resembled a well-preserved mummy. The features were very distinct, and were those of a woman whose age could not, at the time of her death, have exceeded eighteen or nineteen years. The head was partially covered with the white dress. Long black hair was still clinging to the scalp, and was parted across the forehead and carried behing the ears. It was the most horrible and ghastly figure that I ever beheld.

The workmen appeared to take it as a matter of course; or rather to regard it only with reference to the gold and silver ornaments upon the skeleton, and it was with great difficulty that I could prevent their stripping it forthwith. As for the Rajah, he simply smiled, and coolly remarked:

"A case of jealousy. Her husband was jealous of her, and thought her guilty, and punished her thus,—bricked her up alive in this wall, with no room to move about, only standing room. Perhaps she deserved it,—perhaps she was plotting against his life; perhaps she was innocent. Who can say? Hindoos as well as Mahommedans punish their wives in this way."

"You mean that they used to do so in former times, previous to British rule in India. But such a thing could not occur in our time."

"It does not occur as often as it did: but it does occur, sometimes, even in these days. How do you know what happens in the establishment of the wealthy native?—Let us look a little further into the wall.—It strikes me that we shall find some more of them.

Orders were given accordingly to the workmen to remove, with great care, the whole of the ledge, in short to pull away its entire face. This was done; and how shall I describe the awful spectacle then presented? In that wall there were no less than five bodies—four besides that already alluded to. One of the number was a young man, who from his dress and the jewels on his finger-bones, must have been a person of high rank; perhaps the lover of one or both of the young women; for he had been bricked up between two of them. The others were evidently those of confidential servants; old women for they had grey hair. They possibly had been cognizant, or were supposed to be cognizant, of whatever offence the others had been deemed guilty.

The sun was now shining brightly on these ghastly remains, covered with garments embroidered in gold and silver. The air had a speedy effect on them, and one by one, they fell; each forming a heap of bones, hair, shrivelled skin, dust, jewels and finery. The latter were now gathered up, placed in a small basket, and sent to the Lallah. Their value, possibly, was upward of a thousand pounds. How many years had passed since that horrible sentence had been put into execution? Not less than one hundred and seventy, or perhaps two hundred.

MY FIRST LESSON IN GAMBLING

Wherever there are great collections of people, there are always bad and foolish people among them. It was so at Bridgeport, where the State Fair was held, a few weeks ago. Outside the grounds, behind or within tents or booths, were many who gambled, and led others to do so. Now, it is a very simple thing to gamble, so simple, and often it appears so fair, that many a boy is led to take the first step before he knows it.

There was behind one of the oyster stands a circle of men and boys; on the ground sat a poor, degraded, dissipated man, poorly clothed and looking sick and weak. He held in his hand several iron rings, and before him was a board with large nails driven in it, which stood upright. A clear-faced, bright eyed, handsome little fellow, stepped up to him. He was just such a boy as is prompt at day school, and always has his lesson at Sunday school. He showed this in his face as he stepped up to the man and said, "What's that for?"

"Give me a cent, and you may pitch one of these rings, and if it catches over a nail, I'll give you six cents."

The boy tried it: and two three cent pieces were put into his hand, and he stepped off well satisfied with what he had done, and probably not having an idea that he had done wrong.

[illegible] him, and now, before he had time to look about and rejoin his companions, laid his hand on his shoulder.

"My lad, that is your first lesson in gambling.

"Gambling, sir?"

"You staked your penny, and won six. Did you not?"

"Yes, I did."

"You did not earn them, and they were not given you: you won them just as gamblers win money. You have taken the first step in the path; that man has gone through it, and you can see the end.—Now I advise you to go and give him his six cents back, and ask him for your penny, and then stand square with the world an honest boy again."

He had hung his head down, but raised it quickly, and his bright, open look, as he said, "I'll do it," will not be forgotten.—He ran back and soon emerged from the ring, looking happier than ever. He touched his cap and bowed pleasantly as he ran away to join his comrades. That was an honest boy.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPARISON.

We do not wonder that leaves and trees and boughs have ever been the material whereof poets have manufactured comparisons in imagery.

One of the most beautiful we ever remember to have seen was by Dr. Cheever. "That tree," said he "full leaved, and swelling up into the calm, blue summer air. Not a breath is stirring and yet how it waves and rocks in the sunshine. Its shadows are flung lavishly around it; birds sit and sing in its branches, and children seek refuge beneath them. Human affections are the leaves, the foliage of our being; they catch every breath, and in the burden and heat of the day they make music and motion in a sultry world. Stripped of that foliage, how unsightly is human nature! Like that same tree it stands with bare and shivering arms, tossing sparingly to heaven—glorious fluttering of life and warmth before; an iron harp for the minstrelsy of the wildest winds now."—Chicago Journal.

ONE OF SPURGEON'S PARABLES.

That was a dreadful dream which a pious mother once had, and told to her children. She thought the judgment day was come. The great Books were opened. They all stood before God. And Jesus said, "Separate the chaff from the wheat, put the goats on the left hand, and the sheep on the right." The mother dreamed that she and her children were standing just in the middle of the great assembly.—And the angel came and said, "I must take the mother, she is a sheep; she must go to the right hand. The children are goats, they must go on the left." She thought as she went, her children clutched her, and said, "Mother, can we part? Must we be separated?" She then put her arms around them, and seemed to say, "My children, if possible, I would take you with me." But in a moment the angel touched her: her cheeks were dried; and now overcoming natural affection, being rendered supernatural and sublime, resigned to God's will, she said, "My children, I taught you well. I trained you up and you forsook the ways of God, and now all I have to say is, Amen to your condemnation." Thereupon, they were snatched away, and she saw them in perpetual torment, while she was in heaven!—Spurgeon.

How Ale Strengthened Him.—We believe we have got hold of an original anecdote that never was printed before. A student of one of our State Colleges had a barrel of ale deposited in his room—contrary of course to rule and usage. He received a summons to appear before the President, who said:

"Sir, I am informed that you have a barrel of ale in your room."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, what explanation can you make?"

"Why, the fact is, sir, my physician advises me to try a little each day as a tonic, and not wishing to stop at the various places where the beverage is retailed, I concluded to have a barrel taken to my room."

"Indeed. And have you derived any benefit from the use of it?"

"Ah, yes sir. When the barrel was taken to my room, two days since, I could scarcely lift it. Now I can carry it with the greatest ease."

We believe the witty student was discharged without special reprimand.

ONE OF THE WATCHMEN.—A "feller" coming home from California had a monster rattlesnake, in a wicker cage, which he deposited with his other plunder under his bed at Chagres. The room contained fifty beds—half-full of drunken and sick "fellers." During a temporary absence of the owner, the snake got loose, and the owner coming in and finding the critter gone, yelled out:

"Everlasting misery! who's seen my watchman?"

Many heads popped up from the [illegible] dirty beds, but nobody had seen the missing article.

"What was he, old feller, you're inquirin, for?" says a bald-headed man.

"Why my watchman, all my dust is under my bed here, and I left a guard with it, but he's gone."

"Guard! was he a nigger or a white fellow?"

"No! he was a California rattlesnake—nine feet long, and fifty-two rattles on his tail. Have any of you fellers seen the tarnel critter crawlin' round here?"

They hadn't, but all who were able to get out of bed and mizzle, did so in a bunch.

I GETS TE PEER ANYHOW.—The Sacramenta (Cal.) Age tells of an inveterate lager beer consumer, who is in the habit of hanging around the bar-rooms for the "stumps" "and pickings."

"Yesterday, the old fellow was waiting in a saloon on K street, expecting the receipt of a free glass. The bar-keeper at length saw a dead mouse under the counter. "Good," he exclaimed, "I'll fix old Lager with this 'ere;" so he takes the mouse, puts its decaying body into a glass, (ugh!) covers it with malt liquor, and, passing to the counter, calls out: "'Ere old chap, 'ere's adrink." Lager tottered to the counter, around which several cute ones were standing, seized the beverage, and swallowed it, choking slightly as the vermin descended his throat. "Ah, ah, now you're fixed," yelled the crowd. "Vas ish fixed?" inquired old Lager, startled by the sudden exclamations of the room squad. "Oh; you've swallowed a mouse, that'll use you up," answered the barkeeper. "Schallowed a mice! me, mit the peer?" said Lager as coolly and carelessly, as though he had only taken down a fly. "A mice, vel, I tot it vas a hop as goes in me, but I don't care, tis a mice, I gets Ie peer anyhow!"

DEAN SWIFT MAKES THE BARBER'S FORTUNE.—Dean Swift's barber took it into his head to unite the profession of publican to his more regular one, "for the better maintenance of his family," of which he duly informed his distinguished patron, one morning while lathering him.

"Indeed," said the Dean, "and what can I do to promote this happy union?"

"And please you," said razor, "some of our customers have heard much about your reverence's poetry, so that if you would but condescend to give me a smart little touch in that way to clap under my sign, it might be the making of me and mine forever."

"What do you intend for your sign?" says the dean.

"The jolly barber, if it please your reverence with a razor in one hand, and a full pot in the other."

"Well," rejoined the dean, "in that case there can be no great difficulty in supplying his pen, a suitable inscription." So taking couplet: he instantly scratched the [illegible] but step in here,

"Rove not from pole to shaving but—the beer,"

Where nought except the sign, where it remained which was after a year, and made the barber's fortune.

Bedford, Feb. 26, 1858.

B. F. Meyers & G. W. Penford, Editors.

SANSOM AGONISTES.

Our kind friend, Mr. J. B. Sansom, editor of the Fulton Democrat, postmaster at McConnelsburg, erewhile candidate for the Assembly, lately applicant for the Superintendentship of Public Printing at Harrisburg, etc., etc., has deemed it his duty to impeach our veracity and to deny that we gave a truthful account of the Democratic Meeting held in this place on the evening of the 8th inst. This new Agonistes in the lists of misrepresentation certainly deserves the palm. Hear him:

"Our friend Meyers of the Bedford Gazette, is, we think, slightly mistaken when he says that the resolution offered by Maj. S. H. Tate, at the close of the late Democratic meeting in Bedford was adopted by acclamation, amid the most enthusiastic applause."

We think Mr. Sansom is "slightly mistaken," if he supposes that he can make any one who was present, at the meeting, believe that Maj. Tate's resolution was not adopted as we stated. True, the President of the meeting did not put it to vote, for it was unnecessary to do so, when it was received with such a thundering shout of applause that no sane man in the room could doubt that it was unanimously approved. We said that it was adopted by "acclamation"; we say so again, and we mean what we say. Nor will Mr. Sansom deny the truth of this allegation, when he refers to his dictionary and finds that the word "acclamation" signifies "a shout of applause, uttered by a multitude." If he will deny that when Maj. Tate offered his resolution to the meeting, it was received by shouts of applause uttered by the multitude present, then, his conscience is more elastic than we thought it was.

Mr. Sansom also says that we "labor under a great misapprehension" when we say that the resolution endorsing Hon. Wilson Reilly was not unanimously adopted by the meeting. In saying this, however, he admits that the Committee on resolutions, composed of the best Democrats of the county—two from each election district—when in session, struck from the resolution in question every word contained therein endorsing Mr. Reilly. He further admits that there were "a few persons who opposed" that resolution when it was before the meeting. If, then, the Committee on resolutions, among whom were to be found most of the active Democrats of the county, opposed the aforesaid resolution: if it met with opposition when before the meeting, as Mr. Sansom says; were we not justified in saying that it was not unanimously adopted? But Mr. Sansom knows that when the naked question of Mr. Reilly's endorsement was put to the meeting, there was a strong vote in the negative, so strong, indeed, that it was hard to tell whether the ayes or the noes had it. If he doesn't know this, he can obtain satisfactory evidence of it, by inquiring of the honest yeomanry of Bedford county who composed that meeting.

We would advise our friend, Sansom, to keep cool and not to burst the boiler of his indignation without cause. He need not fear that the "friends of Mr. Reilly in this Congressional District," will not have "fair play" in Bedford county, as he intimates, though we shall tell the truth, when we publish accounts of public meetings, be it to the damage of those gentlemen's purposes, or not. In fact, so far as the Bedford Gazette is concerned, Mr. Reilly has had more than "fair play," for we have never yet published a line that was intended to injure him, and in writing the statement of the late Democratic meeting which appeared in our paper, we were particular so to word that part of it relating to Mr. Reilly, as to save that gentleman the mortification which it is natural to suppose he would have felt, had we said broadly and plainly, as we truthfully might have done, that there was a tremendous NO! shouted forth against his endorsement, by that meeting. Nor do we say this for the purpose of injuring Mr. Reilly. We would never have referred to this matter, had not those who assume to be his exclusive friends and champions forced us to do so. To conclude, we would say to our friendly censor, that if he will only attend to his own affairs in Fulton, and see that the Democratic district of Fulton and Franklin will not be again represented in the Legislature, by an Abolitionist, we can assure him that the Democrats of Bedford, themselves, without any aid from abroad, will have spirit enough to correct us, should we ever, in any degree, misrepresent them.

"Ne Sutor Ultra Crepidam."

"The cobbler should not go beyond his last," is a saying which our legislators at Harrisburg might, with great credit to themselves and greater benefit to the Commonwealth, erect into a rule for the government of their official conduct. If they would only stick to the "last" at which their constituents deputed them to work; if they would leave off "cobbling" at what the Congressional shoe-makers are commissioned to do; in plainer words, if they would just mind their own business and keep their hands off the affairs of Kansas and other matters with which they have nothing at all to do,—there is no doubt that the people of Pennsylvania would be much more faithfully represented in their State Government than they are. We need no useless theorizing, by our legislators, on the Kansas question. We need no hypocritical whining from them on the subject of negro slavery. We want legislation for the security of our own lives, liberty, and property. We want to have assurance, by virtue of law, that we are not to be starved to death through the breaking of swindling banks. We want to be preserved, in future, from the slavery whose chains still clank on the limbs of its victims—the bondage of the financial panic. Have our Senators and Representatives at Harrisburg not enough to do, in attending to the interests of their own constituents? Must they, in order to be kept busy, consider subjects altogether foreign to the purposes for which they were elected? If such be the case, like sensible, honest and patriotic citizens, let them at once adjourn.

The State Convention.

The Democratic State Convention will meet at Harrisburg on the fourth of March next, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for Supreme Judge and Canal Commissioner.—We have no doubt that the nominees will be good men and sound Democrats. There will, probably, be an attempt made to distract the Convention, on the Kansas question, in which case the only safe course for true Democrats to pursue, is to stand up firmly for our Pennsylvania President and his wise and patriotic Administration.

Death of Judge Kane.

A great man has fallen. Judge Kane is no more. After a life of great usefulness, he is gathered to his fathers. He died at his residence near Germantown on Sunday last. His disease was inflammation of the lungs.

☞Monroe Stewart, convicted of the murder of the Wilsons, has been pardoned by the Governor. Henry Fife and Charlotte Jones, who were lately hung at Pittsburg, for the same murder, declared him, in their dying confessions, innocent of the crime.

☞Why doesn't the Bedford Abolition organ publish Senator Bigler's speech on Kansas affairs? Is it afraid to do so? Does it fear the power of the truth? Its editors promised that if we would publish the speech of Senator Douglas, they would publish that of Senator Bigler. We have published Douglas' speech; why don't they redeem their promise and publish Bigler's?

☞Remember Gen. Bowman's sale on Saturday next. Persons wishing to buy articles of household furniture, will do well to attend. Read the advertisement of the sale in another column.

STATEMENT BY GENERAL CALHOUN.

Washington City, Feb. 17, 1858.

To the Editor of the Union:

Sir: I have already communicated to the Committee on Territories in the Senate a full statement of facts connected with the application of Kansas for admission into the Union as a State. I need not repeat those facts in this paper, as they will doubtless reach the public in a few days. It is with reluctance that I refer to matters pertaining solely to the local politics of the Territory in which I live, and with which, to some extent, I have been connected; but the various and contradictory statements that have been made by unscrupulous and irresponsible letter writers to the public press, touching the discharge of my official duties as president of the constitutional convention, make the duty imperative.

Excitement, conflict, and great confusion must necessarily attend the organization of a government for a community brought together from all parts of the world, and actuated by different objects, motives, and prejudices. No Territory ever organized in the United States has suffered more from causes of this character than Kansas. The conflict about the shaping of our institutions, so constantly directed by persons and parties outside of the Territory, has forced within its limits a class of population from every portion of the Union, most dissimilar in character and with the strongest predisposition to collision. That disorder and confusion, the violation of individual and public rights and duties, should result from such causes, may be deplored, but could not be prevented. Good men have sought the peaceful remedy to these controversies in the ballot-box. Bad men have been governed by no scruples as to public or private action. In the periodical addresses put forth by the law-and-order democratic party of Kansas every foreign influence has been repudiated, and every effort made to procure for Kansas the quiet, peaceful settlement of all questions of public policy by the fair and honest expression of the popular will. To the fullest extent these recommendations have not probably prevailed with their own party friends, who, in opposition to a party knowing and respecting no law, may have been driven to the extremity of wrong and the violation of public right and duty. But it is not my object to go into a full examination of this subject. My object now is to place myself right before the public on the subject of the election returns for members of the legislature in Leavenworth county, the statements in reference to which have been so conflicting and contradictory.

On the 13th of January, the day before I opened the returns of the Kansas elections for and under the constitution, I was called upon by several gentlemen from Lawrence, headed by Doctor or Governor Robinson, and asked if I would be governed, in determining the result of the election in Leavenworth county, by the sworn statement of one of the judges of election at the precinct known as the "Delaware Crossing." I replied, no! That I could not, and would not, go behind the election returns. It was then stated that the question was as to the legality of returns; and fraud was charged, on what information I did not learn, upon the ground that the returns sent to me were not the true returns as approved and signed by the judges of election. To give them full opportunity of submitting testimony as to the legality of the returns, I told the gentlemen that, as the legislature would have no duties to perform until after the decision of the question of admission, there could be no necessity for the immediate issuance of certificates of election in that or any other case, and that the difficulty which they suggested could, in the mean time, be fully investigated.

This statement I made the next day in the presence of the gentlemen who were present at the opening of the returns. I also authorized Gov. Denver to state that if the judges of election will furnish me, under oath, a statement that the return made was false and fraudulent, I would treat such statement as a corrected return, and be governed by it in giving certificates of election. I know nothing of the Delaware Crossing returns, only that public rumor had given to the democratic party a majority of that precinct of some three or four hundred. I supposed the returns from that precinct were in my office, and was undeceived only when all the returns were opened and they were not found. These returns were of great importance as they determined not only the political complexion of Leavenworth county, but of both branches of the legislature. As they stood at the opening of the returns, without the Delaware Crossing vote, the republicans had a majority in Leavenworth county, and consequently, a majority of both branches of the legislature.

In order to ascertain the truth, I sent a messenger to that precinct to see the judges of election and learn the facts as to the charge of fraud in the return. In the mean time, the sealed returns from that precinct were put into my hands by Mr. Diefendorf, one of the commissioners for Leavenworth county, and on the same day that the messenger returned from Delaware Crosisng precinct. I received the returns and the messenger's report at Weston, Missouri, on the 21st day of January. The messenger brought to me the following sworn statements of the judges and clerks of the precinct in question:

Territory of Kansas, }
County of Leavenworth. }

The undersigned, judges and clerks of the election held for State officers and members of the State legislature, held at the precinct known as Delaware Agency, on the fourth day of January, A. D. 1858, do hereby certify that the returns made by us of said election were correct and genuine, and that any statement made by any person as to the vote of said precinct can only be determined, as to its truth or falsity, by a reference to said returns made by us as managers and clerks of said election at said precinct.

ISAAC MUNDAY } Judges.
THEODORE F. GARRETT, }
JAMES C. GRINTER, }
W. C. WILSON, } Clerks.
JAMES FINDLAY, }

Territory of Kansas, }
County of Johnson. }

Before me, Sam'l Salters, an acting justice of the peace in and for the county and Territory aforesaid, personally appeared Isaac Munday, Theodore F. Garrett, James C. Grinter, Wm. C. Wilson, and James Findlay, who, being sworn, deposeth and saith that the foregoing statement is true, to the best of their knowledge and belief.

ISAAC MUNDAY,
THEODORE F. GARRETT,
JAMES C. GRINTER,
W. C. WILSON,
JAMES FINDLAY,

Sworn to and subscribed before me this eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1858.

SAMUEL M. SALTERS, J. P.

Territory of Kansas, }
County of Johnson. }

Before me, Samuel Salters, personally appeared Theodore F. Garrett, who, being sworn, says that on the 11th day of January he was arrested in Leavenworth county, under, as it was said, a warrant, and taken to Lawrence, by an armed party of ten or eleven, and, while he was under arrest, a proposition was made to him to make a new poll-book, (by some one of the free-State party in Lawrence, and he thinks by a man named Ewing,) which poll book should be made out, so that General Calhoun would receive it, which deponent, being in durance, told him or them he supposed would be all right.

THEODORE F. GARRETT.

Sworn and subscribed before me this the eighteenth day of January, 1858.

SAMUEL M. SALTERS, J. P.

These depositions impressed my mind fully that the returns placed that day in my hands were true. I entertained no particle of doubt about the result, when, in the presence of Colonel Starks and others, I opened the returns and found a majority of 379 votes for the democratic party. I concluded, as a matter of course, that the depositions of the judges and clerks were made with a full knowledge of the contents of the returns, then for the first time in my possession. The returns, together with the depositions of the judges and clerks, I sent to my office, at Lecompton, by Mr. Brooks, one of the clerks in the surveyor general's office. I am informed, in a letter from Mr. Brooks, that he placed them in the hands of General Maclean, the chief clerk in the surveyor general's office, on the 27th day of January. I at once said to my friends, and others who approached me on the subject, that the democratic party had a majority in the legislature, and authorized the publication of such a statement. I came to Washington with no particle of doubt on my mind as to the result. On the Saturday night after my arrival in Washington, I called to pay my respects to an old friend Judge Douglas, and before leaving he placed in my hands a paper he had just received from Kansas. This paper contained what purported to be the depositions of the judges of election for the precinct of Delaware Crossing; and in which the judges deposed that there were but forty-three votes polled at that precinct. I could not act, or form any opinion upon a newspaper publication; but I immediately informed my friends that if the statement so made should prove true, they must inevitably control my action. I have received and opened a return from the Delaware Crossing precinct which gives to the democratic party a majority of 379 votes, and would thus secure a majority to the democratic legislative ticket of Leavenworth county, and a majority on joint ballot in the legislature, under the constitution. If the judges of election at that precinct furnish to me, as I informed Gov. Denver before leaving Kansas, a reliable and sworn statement that but forty-three votes were polled there, I should make myself a party to the fraud if I declined to be governed by the oaths of the judges. It is a question going to the legality of the returns. Of that I may judge and determine. I shall do so; and, in my determination, I shall be governed by justice, truth and the right. If it shall, as it probably will, place the government of the State of Kansas in the hands of my enemies, no one will regret it more; but yet no one, not even a black republican, could perform the duty with more of the consciousness of right than I shall feel in the honest discharge of my official duties. I have written to Gov. Denver to procure the sworn statements of the judges of this controverted precinct, and to have them taken under such circumstances as will secure a free and unbiassed exhibition of facts. By the sworn statements, so procured, I shall be governed in giving the certificates of election to the members of the legislature from Leavenworth county.

J. CALHOUN.

—Mr. Edwin Forrest, the distinguished tragedian, says the Cleveland Review, who has so long been confined by sickness at the American House, has so far recovered as to be able to ride out.

☞An infamous scheme is now on foot in our State Legislature which proposes to make a present of the public works to the Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company. We are astounded at the fact that any Democrat could be so recreant to principle and so untrue to the interests of his country, as to lend his aid in the perpetration of so enormous a swindle. We shall recur to this subject anon.

[From the Washington Union.

Compliment to Gen. Bowman.

At a meeting of the democracy of Bedford county, Pennsylvania, on the 8th instant, the following resolution, complimentary to General Bowman, the Superintendent of Public Printing, was adopted by his friends and former neighbors. The compliment is bestowed upon a most worthy gentleman, and we assure the democracy of Bedford that the impression already made by him in his new position is most favorable, securing for himself all that the Bedford democracy claim for him:

"Resol ved, That General Bowman, recently appointed Superintendent of Public Printing at Washington, is altogether worthy of the regard and esteem of the people among whom he has taken up his abode. We bespeak for him all that was accorded by his friends when amongst us; implicit confidence in his honesty, the highest regard for his consistent democracy, and unwavering integrity. We tender to the President the hearty thanks of the Bedford county democracy for his appointment."

The United States Senators from Kansas.—According to the latest pronunciamiento from the immortal John Calhoun, the organic State Legislature of Kansas will be in the hands of the free State party. In this event, the first result from the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton constitution will most probably be the presentation to the United States Senate of the credentials of General Jim Lane and Governor Robinson as the duly elected members of that body from the State of Kansas. What a commentary will this be upon the present hue and cry against the administration for "selling the cause of freedom in Kansas to the slave power!" On the other hand, what better proof could be demanded of the self-sacrificing and patriotic labors of John Calhoun in behalf of "popular sovereignty" than the election of Lane and Robinson to the Senate under his Lecompton programme? Yet this is the man denounced as a traitor and a vagabond by all the anti-slavery agitators in and out of Kansas, when, in truth, he has done more to make Kansas a free State than all the ship's crew of them put together. Pass Lecompton, and let General Lane take his seat next to Mr. Douglas.

Special Notices.

How to be Economical!—True economy consists in getting the best of every thing at a fair price. This is true of almost every thing to be purchased; but is especially true in the purchase of a family Sewing Machine. That Grover and Baker's is the best for family use, is a fact that cannot be successfully disputed, and we advise our readers to purchase no other. It sews a stronger and more beautiful seam, is more easily understood and managed than any machine in the market, and possesses all the qualities which should recommend it for family use.

To Coughs and Colds.—To those who have pulmonary Diseases incident to our climate at this season of the year, we would advise the trial of a bottle of Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup, by this time well known to our community, and a medicine that stands higher for its curative properties than any other medicine with which we are acquainted. It is a matter of wonder to us that any person will allow a Cough or Cold to fasten on the lungs when so pleasant a remedy is at hand. You can buy it at the store of S. Brown, Bedford and at the store of Colvin & Robison Schellsburg.

AGENTS, ATTENTION!

Do you wish to find good employment, and make money with little or no investment, and without interfering with your regular business? If you do, read this advertisement.

C. E. Todd & Co., of 392 Broome Street, New York, are manufacturing massive gold Pencils for $5 each, (which are cheap at that price,) and they throw in a gift or prize with each Pencil, worth from $2 up to $5, $10, $15, $20, $25, $30, $50, $75, $100, $200, and $500. Don't cry out, "Humbug! Lottery!" It's no such thing. The Pencils are sold at their cash value, and all the profits over the first cost are thrown into the gifts, which actually cost the purchaser nothing. The prizes are distributed on a simple plan of drawing, which would take too much room to explain, but which has never failed to give complete satisfaction. We have drawn and sent to purchasers 183 gold watches of various prices 74 purses of gold dollars, 238 gold lockets, 850 gold chains, and a corresponding number of other prizes, within two months.

THERE ARE NO BLANKS,

but every purchaser draws a prize worth $2 certain, and it stands thousands of chances to be a higher figure.

We want a good agent in every neighborhood throughout the country, to solicit purchasers, and any agent, to be successful, must have a pencil and a prize to exhibit. We pay agents $1 cash for each purchaser he obtains, and the first person in any neighborhood who applies for a pencil and gift, will receive the agency for that locality. Should an agent obtain a valuable prize to exhibit with his pencil, he would have little difficulty in obtaining scores of purchasers, and making it a paying business.

A NEW IDEA! READ! READ!!

We ask no body to send their money till they know what prize they draw. Any person wishing to try their luck, can first send us their name and address, and we will make their drawing and inform them by return mail what prize they drew, when they can send on and take the Pencil and prize, or not, whichever they choose. We give this privilege only once to a purchaser. After the first drawing, every purchaser will be required to send in advance, through the authorized agent. We will send with each drawing the number taken out, with full description of the plan of drawing. Address

THE WONDER OF THE AGE!

J. M. LINSEY'S GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

Which is a purely vegetable Preparation, for thoroughly purifying of blood, giving vigor to the Liver, stomach and bowels, and expelling from the system all foreign matter, and substituting in its stead a healthful activity through all the functions of life.

HOW IT WAS DISCOVERED!

In the fall of 1854 a daughter of Mr. Lindsey was suffering from a malignant attack of Canerum Oris (Canker of the mouth.) She had previously been prostrated by the attacks of Dysentary, Inflamation of the lungs and Hectic Fever, successively, which resulted in the above named disease in its worst form. Her condition was most deplorable—her mouth and cheek were literally rotten—the attending physician pronounced the case a hopeless one. Everything indicated a speedy and horrible death—the death of rotting out of life! At this critical juncture Mr. Lindsey prepared a compound for the purpose of alleviating, possible, the pains of the little sufferer. She was made to use it freely, and in a short time to his most delightful astonishment, there was a very perceptible change for the better. The mouth began to put on a bright and healthy appearance—the foul breath became sweet—the appetite was restored, and the child seemed to partake of a new and fresh life.

Hope was inspired, and the use of the compound was faithfully continued, the result of which, with the blessing of God, was her complete restoration.—She is now perfectly healthy! From this circumstance, Mr. Lindsey was led to prepare with greater care and exactness, what had so astonishingly cured his child, and continued his experimental efforts until he succeeded in bringing to perfection his Great Remedy for Blood Impurity—since which time its effects have been almost miraculous. Hundreds upon hundreds, by it, have been snatched from an untimely grave and restored to the sweets of health and the endearment of friends. The young and old have tested it, saving powers and sing aloud its virtues. Say they—"after using Lindsey's Improved Blood Searcher, we felt as if a new life was stirring our veins, and under God we owe to it more than words can express."

But hear from their own lips and then judge of its valuable effects. The few testimonials that follow show that it is deservedly styled the Greatest Discovery of this or any other age.

CERTIFICATES!

Pattonsville, Bedford co., Pa., Oct. 14, '57.

Mr. J. M. Lindsey.

Dear Sir:—I was severely afflicted with rheumatism for a whole year—nine months of which time I was not able to leave my bed—when hearing of the wonderful effects of your Improved Blood Searcher, I determined to procure some it and give it a fair trial. After using three bottles I was able to walk around again as usual, and am now wholly cured. I can recommend it to all who are similarly afflicted, and believe it is all it claims to be.

Yours, truly, JOHN SHAFFER.

A DESPERATE CASE OF TETTER and BARBER'S ITCH, cured by the use of Lindsey's Blood Searcher. I, the undersigned, sometime in last March was severely afflicted with what was pronounced by my physicians to be a certain kind of Tetter and Barber's Itch. My condition was one of the greatest misery; my face was almost constantly running with the foul corruption that escaped from the tubercles, by which it was almost completely covered. After being under the care of my physicians for near two months, without the least benefit, I was induced to make a trial of Lindsey's Blood Searcher, and the result was that in using one bottle and a half I found a perfect cure, I may also say that I eagerly tried whatever was recommended as a cure.—Such was my wretchedness that I even resorted to the dangerous experiment of pouring pure Creosote on my face and neck, but all to no purpose—the Blood Searcher was the first and only thing that I have great reason to be grateful for. I ever Made a trial of its healing virtues, and I confidently recommend it to any who may suffer from Tetter, or any other disease arising from an impure state of the blood. JOHN DELEHUNT.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., July 29 1857.

AN INTERESTING CASE OF SCROFULA cured by one bottle of Lindsey's Blood Searcher.—This certifies that about one year ago our little son aged four years, was most sorely afflicted with what the physicians pronounced to be a scrofula, and was treated accordingly for nearly a year, but without the slightest benefit. His eyes were running a thin mattery humor almost constantly; which would encrust his eyes beyond the power of opening them until they were washed and cleaned by soap and water. About the same time an abscess formed just below the groin, which in due time broke and commenced a discharge, which was found impossible to dry up or heal—the bed would be very much stained and the clothing of the child perfectly sickening in a single nights time. After having the attentions of a physician for so long a time, and finding the child to be getting worse, we determined to try the effects of Mr. Lindsey's Blood Searcher. This was in last March—and before two weeks had passed away the change was manifest, and I am happy to say that in the use of a SINGLE BOTTLE our little boy has been perfectly restored to health. We cannot speak too highly of this invaluable medicine. It should be in every family—none should be without it. As a purifier of blood it is beyond all price!

DANIEL BOLLINGER.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., July 20, 1857.

Hollidaysburg, Pa. March 19th, 1857.

Dr. J. M. Lindsey,—Dear Sir: I have been using your Improved Blood Searcher since some time last summer, and I deem it to be a matter of duty to bear my testimony to its invigorating blood restorative virtues. I have been for a number of years severely troubled erysipelas and general debility; but since I put myself under the influence of your Improved Blood Searcher, I find a very decided improvement. Indeed, my acquaintances frequently remark, that I look so "fat and hearty;" and I know of no other cause than the use of your Improved Blood Searcher. Judging from my own experience, I believe that this is one of the most valuable medicines that woman can use, especially those who are or have entered upon the decline of life (from 40 to 50 years of age). I feel that it would have been above ingratitude on my my part to have withheld this testimony, and in thus consenting to appear as a witness before the public. I have been actuated solely with reference to the voice of conscience and duty. You are at liberty to make whatever use you may deem proper of this statement. Yours, respectfully,

MARGARET W. O'DONNELL.

LIVER COMPLAINT CURED BY Lindsey's Improved Blood-Searcher.—Blair County, ss. Personally appeared before me, one of the Justices of the Peace, in and for Blair county, George Kopp, who, being duly sworn according to law, doth depose and say: Two years ago I was afflicted with pain between the shoulders, almost constant cough, loss of appetite, chills, nightsweats, and very subject to take colds; I, at length, became so weak that I could hardly walk; my physician done me no good. Sometime last fall, I commenced taking Lindsey's improved blood-searcher, and by the use of two bottles was perfectly cured. I feel, to recommend it to all who suffer from Liver diseases, general debility, loss of appetite, and other diseases arising from impurity of the blood. I would not like to do without it.—I consider it an excellent family medicine.

(Signed) GEORGE KOPP.

Sworn and subscribed this 15th day of March, A. D. 1857, before me, J. GORLEY, J. P.

Note.—Mr. Kopp is a resident of Frankstown, and is well known to the citizens of Blair and Bedford counties as a man of excellent character and influence.

A DESPERATE CASE OF AGUE AND Dyspepsia, entirely cured by the use of Lindsey's "Improved Blood-Searcher."

Blair County, ss.—Personally appeared before me, the subscriber, one of the Justices of the Peace, in and for said county, John Moran, who, being duly sworn according to law, doth depose and say, that in the spring of 1856, I was a victim to that worst of diseases—dyspepsia, and that in its worst form. My appetite was completely gone, and when, in order to preserve life, I would force myself to swallow a mouthful of food, the stomach would immediately loath it, and cast it forth with the spittle. I had also been suffering with the ague; each attack lasting about nine months out of the twelve, so that, with the ague and dyspepsia, I was reduced as I thought beyond recovery; I thought I must die, my physician could do me no good. Such was my condition, when Mr. Lindsey supplied me with a bottle of his improved blood-searcher, assuring me it would work a cure. I commenced its use but with little confidence, but, in one week's time—so great was its restorative powers—I found my appetite to return, my stomach received a new tone, so that I could eat anything without the slightest inconvenience, and colore its healing touch the ague fled as from a foe; nor have I been troubled with ague or dyspepsia since. I enjoy a better state of health than I had done for fifteen years before; I am strong and hearty, and I feel confident that, under the blessing of God, I owe all to the invaluable Improved Blood-Searcher. I believe it not to be only a sure remedy for ague, but an infallible preventive, and, as such, I would recommend it to all whose business, habits, or residences, expose them to this dreadful pest of humanity. Dyspepsia cannot stay where the Improved Blood-Searcher is properly used. I feel it my duty to point all who suffer, to this all-healing medicine. (signed:) JOHN MORAN,

DR. HUNTER'S MEDICAL MANUAL AND HANDBOOK FOR THE AFFLICTED,—containing an outline of the origin, progress, treatment and cure of every form of disease contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self-abuse, or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style, avoiding all medical technicalities, and every thing that would offend the ear of decency.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in Penn. College, Philadelphia.—"DR. HUNTER'S MEDICAL MANUAL"—The author of this work, unlike the majority of those who advertise to cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the unfortunate, or to the victim of mal-practice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence.

JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. Woodward, M. D., of Penn University, Philad.—It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the professional ability of the Author of the "Medical Manual."—Numerous cases of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing, have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by Self-abuse, or Excess of venery, I do not know his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide themselves.
